Cover Illustration

'The Dewannee of Bengal, Behar and Orissa acquired by the English, the Emperor Shah Alum delivering to Lord Clive the formal Grant conferring in perpetuity the administration (or Dewannee) of the revenues of Bengal, Behar and Orissa on the East India Company', a steel engraved frontispiece in volume two of "A Comprehensive History of India" by Henry Beveridge (Lot 860). The illustration is marked "painted by Coke Smyth" but is apparently derived from the huge canvas by Benjamin West in the possession of the National Trust and formerly hung at Claremont, Lord Clive's Surrey seat.

Our auction venue

The Royal Society for the encouragement of Arts, Manufactures and Commerce was founded in 1754, by William Shipley, a drawing master from Northampton, who assembled a group of the most eminent artists, philosophers and scientists of the day and declared that the objectives of his Society were 'to embolden enterprise, to enlarge science, to refine art, to improve our manufactures and to extend our commerce. The Society moved to its present premises, which were purpose built by the Adam brothers as part of their Adelphi development, in 1774.

KEN WIGGINS (1924-2000)

Ken Wiggins, who died last year, had been the doyen of Indian numismatics in the UK for what seemed to be an age. A Sussexman, he spent his professional career in the police force, serving in the RAF as a navigator during the Second World War. His interest in coins started during his teens when he obtained various coins from bubble-gum machines. But it was not until after the war, when serving in the Near and Middle East that his interest began to broaden towards the orient. During his collecting years he put together a range of collections most of which he disposed of in recent years, but the one that really captured his imagination and on which he devoted his greatest attention was his Indian one, a collection that primarily embraced the princely states and the East India Companies. Collecting these coins at a time when few others were doing so, he was able to find many coins that nowadays are very hard to come by, a fact that can readily be ascertained from a perusal of this catalogue.

Ken was a founder member of the Oriental Numismatic Society and served as its UK Regional Secretary for 23 years. He gave many talks and wrote many articles on his chosen collecting areas, being one of the first to adopt a systematic approach to the study of Indian state coins. He collaborated on two books that have become standard reference works on the coins of the Scindias of Gwalior and the Marathas, respectively. And he was collaborating on an updating of Pridmore's volume on the coins of the East India Company at the time of his death.

The collection catalogued here comprises coins of the princely states and the East India Companies. It is primarily a type collection though there are date runs in a few series. It is very strong on the coins of Awadh with many hard-to-find fractions, Gwalior, Jaipur, the Sikhs, the Marathas. But it is perhaps among the coins of the East India Company that some of the finest specimens are to be found: the double rupee of Machhlipatan, the Pax Deo rupee of Bombay, some superb copper coins of the Madras Presidency. It will be a long time before such a collection is assembled again, the material is simply no longer available in either quantity or quality. Hence this is a golden opportunity for the collectors of today.

- *53 Rupee in the name of Bahadur Shah II, Subah Awadh, struck by the insurgents in 1857 AD, AH 1273/20 (ND 11 and 12). Toned extremely fine, the only specimen known. £500-600

In 1857 the leaders of the uprising in Awadh installed Brijis Qadr, a son of the last king of Awadh, as ruler under the regency of his mother. A condition of his installation was that a petition would be submitted to Bahadur Shah, the Mughal emperor in Delhi, seeking his agreement to this arrangement. A delegation therefore went from Lucknow to Dehli to confer with the emperor. It is reported that a very precious nazr was taken to the emperor as was also a pattern gold coin bearing a couplet with the emperor's name. That couplet is the same as on the present silver Rupee. This coin type would presumably have been issued as a regular coinage in Awadh had the British not regained control of the situation. This Rupee will probably have been struck as a trial piece or pattern along with the gold mentioned and, as such, is an item of considerable historical importance.

- *54 Copper coins (20), in the name of Shah 'Alam II, including years 22 and 23 with letter 'ain of Asaf al-Daula (4), 1232/26, 1233/26 (2) and others (8), dated 1229/26, mint Subah Awadh (when visible) issued by Brijis Qadr during the uprising in 1857-8 (KM 380), includes one very rare specimen with a full mint-name. Very good to very fine. (20) £100-120

- 55 Copper coins (57), comprising Ghazi al-Din Haidar, Falus (11) (KM 140, 155); Nasir al-Din Haidar, Falus (7) (KM 175, 195); Muhammad Ali, Falus (7) (KM 305); Amjad Ali, Falus (4) (KM 325) and a very unusual square 1/3-Falus, 3.6g; Wajid Ali, Falus (4), ½-Falus, ¼-Falus (2), 1/8-Falus (2), various dates (KM 351, 349, 347, 345), and other Falus (18) imitating Awadh issues. Very good to good very fine. (57) £140-180

The standard work on Sikh coins is The coins of the Sikhs by Hans Herrli

- *421 The Ahluwalia Rupee, VS 1862 (KM 99). Good very fine and extremely rare. £800-1000
- This Rupee was struck by Fath Singh, the leader of the Ahluwalia misl of the Sikhs. In 1802 he had signed a treaty of unity and friendship with Ranjit Singh and in 1806 the two Sikh leaders signed the treaty of Lahore with the British. The date of the Rupee corresponds to 1806 AD and it was probably struck as an affirmation of the then independent status of Fath Singh to underpin his signature of the treaty. There is no mint-name on the coin but the fine style of the engraving points to one of the major mints. The coin is a key item in the Sikh series and one of historical importance.

- *507 Ahmadabad (Saharanpur area), Rupee in the name of Shah 'Alam II, year 28 (KM 738). Very fine with slight adhesions and very rare. £100-120

This coin was probably issued by the Rohilla, Ghulam Qadir, soon after he succeeded his father, Zabita Khan, as head of the Rohillas. The identity of this Ahmadabad is still somewhat conjectural but it could well be Ghausgarh, the Rohilla headquarters not far from Saharanpur.

The mint-name on this coin has not been read with certainty though Hardwar or Sri Hardwar is very possible. A copper coin from Hardwar of this "reign" is known. All coins of Muhammad Akbar II of this brief, puppet reign in the hands of Ghulam Qadir, are extremely rare. Only two specimens of this type are known to date.

Pridmore was of the view that this type was a specimen struck at the Madras mint to show the full die impression. The weight, however, does correspond to that of a double Rupee, whereas a specimen struck merely to show the full die impression need not have been struck to that precise weight.

- The district and town of Salem fell to the British following a treaty signed with Tipu Sultan in 1792 after the latter had been restrained from making incursions into Travancore. The town, situated some 900 feet above sea level, is on the River Tirumanimutar in the shadow of the Shevaroy Hills. The EIC opened a mint in Salem around 1798 but the operation was not successful and minting soon ceased. The present coin is a very rare testament to this short-lived venture.
- 585 Machhlipatan, Copper Dubs (9), AH 1174, 1198/26, 122x/47, 1222/4x, year 18 (Pr 301) and an "M" dub (Pr 303). Fine to very fine, scarce. (6) £60-80
- 586 Chinapatan, Copper Falus (6) and other copper coins (2) of around ½-Dudu weight, one dated (17)33 with a "noughts and crosses" type reverse, the other appears to have a Tamil or similar legend on both sides. Falus mainly very fine, the others fine, scarce to rare. (8) £70-90
- The attribution of the Falus to Chinapatan is not certain. The mint-name is rather crudely written and can also be read, with a little imagination, as Haidarnagar, one of the mints of Haidar Ali of Mysore. The coins bear the number 76 and 77 which could correspond to AH 1176 and 1177, dates which fall within Haidar's reign.

- *608 Benares, Rupee 1230/17/49, usual type but on wide flan, 26mm (date not in Pridmore). Good very fine and presumably rare. £50-60

It is not certain whether this is an official issue or an imitation. The calligraphy is quite crude in places, the last letter of "Muhammadabad" is missing and the word "Banaras" is written poorly as though some-one had engraved a die from a dumper coin where the upper and lower parts of the legends were incomplete.

Baldwin's Auctions Ltd. shall not be liable for errors or omissions in executing any bidding commissions. We cannot guarantee to execute written bids received less than 24 hours before the commencement of the sale. The onus of proving a lot to be not genuine or authentic or to have been so wrongly described shall lie with the buyer. Proof of the inability of any recognised expert or authority to express a definite opinion shall not discharge such onus. If the buyer shall discharge such onus, the auctioneers shall rescind the sale and repay to the buyer the price paid by him. Save as provided herein, Baldwin's Auctions Ltd. shall not under any circumstances whatsoever be liable for any costs, expenses or damages (whether direct, indirect, special or consequential) incurred by the buyer in respect of any lot, whether or not as a result of any fault, imperfection, error or description or lack of genuineness or authenticity, including but not limited to loss of any kind of profit whatsoever.

Without prejudice to any other rights, Baldwin's Auctions Ltd. reserve the right to charge interest on any overdue payment at the rate of three per cent per month. Seven working days' notice must be allowed for clearance of personal cheques before delivery can be made unless prior arrangements have been made with Baldwin's Auctions Ltd. A 4% surcharge will be applied to credit card payments.

13. Buyers accepting commissions from third parties do so at their own risk and will remain responsible to Baldwin's Auctions Ltd. for full settlement according to these conditions.

14. By making a bid the buyer acknowledges his acceptance of these Conditions and shall be bound by them.

15. If any buyer fails to comply with any of these Conditions, the lot or lots in respect of which the failure is made may at the discretion of Baldwin's Auctions Ltd. be put up again and resold. The damages recoverable from the defaulting buyer shall include, but not be limited to, the auctioneers' expenses and commission in respect of the resale and the amount (if any) by which the price obtained on the resale is exceeded by that obtained on the first sale.

16. A variation of these Conditions shall only be binding on Baldwin's Auctions Ltd. and the vendor if it is made in writing and signed by a duly authorised representative of Baldwin's Auctions Ltd.
